

Learning from proofs

A one-day conference on the teaching and learning of mathematical proof

Lara Alcock (Loughborough University)
Investigating and improving undergraduates' mathematical reading

Hyman Bass (University of Michigan)
Proving: Good practices, disabilities, and therapies

Tim Fukawa-Connelly (Drexel University)
Why lectures in advanced mathematics often fail

Matthew Inglis (Loughborough University)
The personality of mathematical proofs

Adrian Simpson (Durham University)
The anatomy of a proof: or, how 3 marks on an exam can be dashed hard to come by!

Doron Zeilberger (Rutgers University)
Proofs are dead, long live algorithms

Friday February 14, 2014. 10:00 a.m. - 5:00 p.m.
The Hill Center for the Mathematical Sciences
Rutgers – The State University of New Jersey

Contact jpmejia@math.rutgers.edu or visit pcrg.gse.rutgers.edu/events